

JFNew respects the privacy of those who access information on our website and use our products and services. The following policies guide our use of information collected from clients and website visitors. We will post notification of material changes to this privacy statement on our website and will update this page with such changes.

Domain names

Our web server automatically recognizes a visitor's IP address

E-mail addresses

We collect e-mail addresses of clients and of those who access our educational resources and communicate with us via e-mail. JFNew does not sell e-mail addresses to anyone.

We provide you with the option to "opt-in" to receive our electronic communications, such as e-newsletters. We do not assume that anyone who provides us with their contact information wants to receive our electronic communications. If you choose to not receive these communications after you have opted in, you may unsubscribe via a link in the e-mail that delivers the electronic communication.

Other collected information

Information you provide to JFNew is used for internal planning and evaluating. We do not share your individual information with any other organizations. We do not share your information with outside companies for the purpose of selling their products or services to you.

Cookies

We use cookies to record session information. We also collect aggregate information on which pages visitors access.

Provision of information

Upon request, we provide visitors access to all information we maintain about them and allow visitors to correct any inaccuracies in such information.

Security

When we transfer and receive certain types of information, such as financial data, we will send that information through a secure connection.

Contact us

If you have any questions about our privacy statement, please e-mail info@jfnew.com.